

AN IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.

In yesterday's issue we briefly alluded to the visit of three gentlemen from Philadelphia with the view of obtaining information of Western North Carolina. We did not feel at liberty to go into details of their purposes, because they seemed to be here in private and unofficial capacity. We are free now to give some interesting information we have obtained.

Some time since Professor Tiernan, who has been industriously engaged for more than twelve months in ride and intelligent investigations into the physical characteristics of this section, issued a pamphlet embodying the results of his labors. It was brief, succinct, yet comprehensive; and falling into the hands of men interested, it fixed attention in a remarkable degree. It was republished in Philadelphia, in English, and also translated in German, and widely diffused among the German-speaking people at home and abroad.

An important and influential association in Philadelphia was especially attracted and influenced by the publication. The path was pointed out through which the long vexed problem might be solved. A field was sought for the employment of agricultural industry and mechanical skill which might be found on soils and localities suitable for their exercise in a climate genial and healthful, and among social conditions pleasant and well ordered. As a result of the pamphlet the association referred to appointed a committee of six to visit Western North Carolina to verify the statements of Prof. Tiernan. This Committee appointed a sub-committee of three, embracing the gentlemen referred to.

Mr. Hammer is President of the Swiss Association which has for its object the introduction of bodies of people noted for industry and for their nice particularity of skill in all works, whether in agriculture or the arts; Mr. Lippman, also of Philadelphia, is at the head of extensive silk and velvet establishments. Mr. Veight is a son-in-law of Mr. Hammer, a gentleman of large capital. These gentlemen, in a rapid, though very intelligent examination, express themselves in the warmest terms of satisfaction. So far from finding exaggeration in the presentation of Prof. Tiernan, they regard the picture as very modestly drawn.

This committee will make their report when they return home. Its effect will doubtless be very marked. The committee represents 250,000 people. Among them will be many whose movements will be governed by the report; and we may expect to see at no distant day the influx of a very desirable class of immigrants; a class not swept in from the immigrant headquarters of Castle Garden, poor, helpless, ignorant, and perhaps vicious; but a stream of free, robust, independent workers, self-sustaining, and qualified to increase their own wealth and add to the resources of the country.

We are glad to learn that the expected influx will be of agriculturists, in the various branches of farm work, not as miners in search of the hidden and uncertain treasures of the mine. There will be orchardists, vignerons, and possibly some who will attempt the culture of silk. But at all events, if the plan ripens into its promised maturity, we are assured of a valuable addition to population and to material prosperity.

The tomb of Mr. Vanderbilt is guarded by Pinkerton detectives, who keep their lonely night watch before the vault in the old Moravian church at New Dorp, Staten Island. The fear that the fate of the remains of A. T. Stewart will befall that of one infinitely richer than he is constantly before the eyes of his apprehensive family. To them come none of the quiet and sacred consolations of grief; no consolation in the knowledge that "after life's fitful fever" the dead "sleeps well." To them no hallowed spot to be watered with filial tears, and brightened with fresh flowers; no place to which affection leads to hold communion with the spirit of the dead, or call back the memories of a father's love. There stands instead the stately tomb, before whose entrance the mercenary guard, repellent of all sacred and tender emotions, and roughly suggestive of the basest of human passions. Mean avarice would set a price upon affection, and make a mockery of the subject of unholy barrier. Human baseness can descend no lower than when it stoops to rob the grave, and trade upon affection. The instinct of the human heart is to respect the resting place of the dead as a holy spot. The instinct of these ghouls, unnatural monsters, is to look upon the grave of the rich as a treasure spot. The crime proposed is one against nature, one against the most deeply founded principles of social order, one for which there can be no forgiveness, one for which the punishment should be rigorous and inexorable.

THE DEEVER CASE AGAIN.

The Statesville Landmark says: Senator Vance has published in the Asheville Advance a card concerning the Deever matter, of similar purport to that of Gen. Vance in the Landmark of last week. The Advance and some of its contributors have become very much excited on account of the publication of the "Tar Heel" letter, and have abused the Advance a good deal because it had the nerve to copy it. There is no use for anybody to get hot under the collar about this thing. There is no man in the United States who is so great as not to be amenable to public acts; it is a sin to lay before the public. No falsehood has been told about this Deever case. It was alleged that Deever, a republican, had been turned out of office, and that Senator Vance had him reinstated. This allegation is sustained by the cards of Gen. and Senator Vance. True, they say the re-appointment was but temporary, and true, as we remarked last week, this is a mitigating circumstance; but the central truth is undeniable and while that stands the injustice of the publication is not apparent. Whether "Tar Heel" knew, or anybody except the Messrs. Vance and Deever knew, that the re-appointment of the latter was only to hold for a few months, we do not know; if we had known it we should at the time of the publication of the "Tar Heel" letter attached that information to it. Any statement that the publication of this disturbing letter had its origin in a purpose to injure anybody, is nonsensical, and betrays an ignorance of the first principles of journalism. It was a piece of interesting news and was given to the public as such. If we had formed a studied purpose to injure Senator Vance, we would have printed the facts as they were first written to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat in a letter which was floating around in newspapers for a month before "Tar Heel's" letter appeared. But we waited until the fact came through the regular channels of newspaper correspondence, and then gave them out. That was business. It was news to the public though not news to us, for we had known of the case six weeks before "Tar Heel" wrote it up. If Senator Ransom, Representative Henderson or Caves, or any other of our representatives had been the publication just as we did, and with just as little hesitation.

But one more word—the last, we hope. It is popularly supposed that "Tar Heel" is Mr. J. B. Hussy. Such is not the case. Mr. Hussy did not write that letter nor did he procure it to be written, and this statement is made without any request from him. He has not at any time within six years, so far as we can recall, written a line for THE LANDMARK. Who did write the letter is something that we shall not tell, because it is nobody's business. It is enough to say that it was written by a North Carolinian of as good character for truth as is borne by anybody who has said or written anything on either side of this controversy.

Don't Read Much.
Norfolk Virginian.
"The people of Richmond don't read much. The northern people are the people who read," said C. F. Johnston, the new dealer, under the head of "Random Notes," in the Sunday State. "While a great many of our citizens read both books and papers, we are sorry to have to admit," says The State editorially, "that Richmonders are far behind Northerners in this respect. A Yankee's wits are sharp, because he keeps up with current events."

Our contemporary is right—the daily newspaper is part of each Yankee's breakfast and lunch. This is demonstrated, especially in the great cities of the North. Whether one enters them by rail or steamboat he will discover the stavedores armed with one or more morning or afternoon papers. The thirst for information is stronger than the appetite for beer, and it is common as day to see truckmen, carters, bootblacks and others pursuing the different journals while waiting their "turns" for employment. The Northern bootblack polishes his mind as well as his boots and shoes, and will readily make an expenditure for a newspaper for a newspaper before purchasing a paper collar. In the South, we regret to say, thousands of thousands never know the news in their own vicinity, except through the medium of their neighbor's paper.

A Congressman's Lot Not a Happy One.
Washington Star.
An Indiana member of Congress, with a bundle of freshly opened letters in his hand, yesterday remarked: "If there is anything in the world that my people don't write to Congressmen about I don't know what it is. Now, look here (selecting a letter from the package.) This is a letter from a woman of my district. She writes: 'Dear Sir: My husband left me seven years ago and I have not heard from him since. Will you please go to the census office and get his present address and send it to me.' 'Now,' continued the member, 'there is another letter from a citizen of my district who requests me to write to the American minister at Rome and get him an Italian queen bee.'

WARD'S WOES.

His Desperate Struggle and How it Ended.

Just twenty-seven miles from the classic city of Athens, Ga., is located the thriving little town of Mableton, the residence of Mr. Robert Ward, who has just been released from a most painful predicament, the particulars of which he has consented to give to the public. He writes as follows:
MABLETON, GEORGIA, GA.,
July 9th, 1885.
For twelve or fourteen years I have been a great sufferer from a terrible form of blood poisoning which can only be cured by the use of a medicine called "Blood Balm." My head, face and shoulders became almost a mass of corruption, and finally the disease commenced eating away my skull bones. I became so horribly repulsive that for three years I absolutely refused to let people see me. I used large quantities of most noted blood remedies and applied to nearly all physicians near me, but my condition continued to grow worse, and all said that I must surely die. My bones became the seat of excruciating aches and pains; my nights were passed in misery; I was reduced in flesh and strength; my kidneys were terribly deranged, and life became a burden to me.

I chanced to see an advertisement of B. B. D., and sent one dollar to W. C. Birchmore & Co., merchants of my place, and they procured one bottle for me. It was used with decided benefit, and when eight or ten bottles had been used I was pronounced sound and well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me, looking like a man who had been burned and then restored. My case was well known in this country, and for the benefit of others who may be similarly affected, I think it my duty to give the facts to the public, and to extend my heartfelt thanks for so valuable a remedy. I have been well for over twelve months, and no return of the disease has occurred.

ROBERT WARD.
MABLETON, GA., July 1, 1885.—We, the undersigned, know Mr. Robert Ward, and take pleasure in saying that the facts above stated by him are true, and that he was one of the most cases of Blood Poison, we ever knew in our country, and that he has been cured by the use of B. B. D.—Baltic Blood Balm.

Remarks.
If B. B. D. will cure such terrible cases as the above, it is not reasonable to expect that any and all cases of Blood Diseases can be cured? We do not announce the cure of a man who has been cured, but we know in our hearts that the cure is true, and we are sure of it. We will mail our "Book of Wonders," free to any one, filled with most astounding home evidence than ever before published. Call on your druggist, or address:

TESTIMONIALS.

True Merit Wins Where Practical Men are Judges. Read What is Said About JELICO MOUNTAIN COAL.

WATER WORKS, ATLANTA, GA., September 25th, 1883.
The engineer of the Water Works reports this morning that he has completed a 24 hour's test of the Jellico Mountain Coal. The test is as follows:
Water pumped, 228,200 gallons; Coal consumed, 12,000 pounds; water pumped to 100 pounds of coal, 21,600 gallons; water pressure maintained through test, 140 pounds, head, in feet 323 to which the water was pumped; total number of pounds raised 323 feet, 228,200 x 323 = 73,918,600 foot pounds of water; total number of pounds coal which is more than the builders guaranteed, the engine to do with the best coal. Mr.
Terry reports only 700 pounds of coal, taken during the test, and that the test was not cleaned during the whole 24 hours. From the result of the above test I must pronounce the J. M. an excellent steam coal. Respectfully, W. G. RICHARDS, Supt. Water Works.

N. B.—Since the above test another has been made in which 28,773 gallons water were raised to 100 pounds of coal, instead of 21,600 in the first test. This shows an increase of over 7000 gallons over any other coal, a fact of itself worthy of note.
W. G. R., Supt.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 9, 1884.
We regard your coal as the best we ever used. In our test we saved two hours time in making day with it with the other we have to clean twice, and even three times. It is the purest coal we ever used.

JOHNSON.

NORFOLK & WESTERN RAILROAD CO. Y. Office Superintendent Western Division, LYNCHBURG, VA., 10th. April 1884.
We have obtained reports from 116 engineers who have used your coal which are of the most satisfactory character. They speak well of the coal in every respect. They say that it is the best coal they have ever used coming from the time of your coal.

We burned the Jellico Mountain Coal on our Water Lily during last winter and think it preferable to other coal, having so many clinkers as other coal.
A. H. LOVE,
Superintendent.

We are well satisfied with the Jellico Mountain Coal, after thoroughly testing it at our mill. We consider it the cheapest coal we try owing to the fact that there is less waste.
T. MCDANIEL & CO.

There is less dust and ashes from Jellico Mountain Coal than any we have heretofore used.
I find it is less waste in the Jellico Coal than any I have used. It burns free and leaves but little ash.
J. H. BEAN.

We find that there is less dust and ashes in our houses when we burn Jellico Mountain Coal than when using other coal.
We are very well satisfied with Jellico Mountain Coal. Consider it the best on the market.
